Consumer Judgments, Beliefs, and Decision-Making Online

You are invited to participate in a research study examining consumer evaluations of everyday choices. Please read this consent page carefully before you decide to participate in this study.

Background Information: The purpose of this study is to examine your judgments about everyday choices, and how you come to make those judgments. These studies will have on average 500 participants.

Procedures: If you agree to be in this study, we will ask you to do the following:

1. You will be asked to consider an everyday choice.
2. You will be asked to answer a few questions about how you make judgments about this topic.
3. You will be asked to answer a few questions about how you made this decision.
4. You will be asked to answer a few questions about yourself. You do not have to answer any question you do not wish to answer.

Risks and Benefits of Being in the Study: We do not anticipate any risks for you participating in this study, other than those encountered in day-to-day life. There are no direct benefits to participating, but indirectly your participation will contribute to greater understanding of the phenomena being studied.

Voluntary Nature of Participation: Your participation in this study is completely voluntary. There is no penalty for not participating. You have the right to withdraw from the study at any time without consequence. You do not need to continue with this study if you do not wish to do so.

Confidentiality: You will not be identified personally in this study. No identifying information will be collected.

Contacts and Questions: If you have other questions beyond those explained in this information sheet, you may reach the experimenter, _____, via email at _____. You may also call the Human Research Protections Program Office at _____ to inquire about your rights as a research participant or to report research related problems.

Statement of Consent: By clicking onto the next page, you are indicating that you have read the above information, you are at least 18 years old and you consent to participate in the study.

Considering using Adderall as a study enhancer?

Did you know that using Adderall without a prescription is illegal?

Adderall is also ineffective at improving academic performance when used for nonmedical purposes. Research finds that individuals using Adderall without ADHD did not perform better on cognitive tests - they only thought they did.
